Our Journey Into the Cloud

Qualys was founded in 1999 at the height of the technology bubble, when Internet security was just beginning to appear on executive agendas. The company launched QualysGuard in December 2000, making Qualys one of the first entrants in the vulnerability management market. QualysGuard's market entry was marked by a powerful combination of highly accurate and easy-to-use scanning technology that pioneered the revolutionary new approach to delivering security applications through the cloud that would become known as "Software-as-a-Service," or SaaS.

Qualys' customers were clearly impressed by the power and flexibility of the SaaS model: lower total cost of ownership, high scalability, centralized management from any location, and continuous access to new and upgraded applications. The QualysGuard platform has grown over the past decade to become the leading cloud-based solution helping organizations strengthen the security of their IT infrastructures and conduct automated security audits to ensure compliance with policies and regulations.
